Intramural soccer kicks off in the new indoor facility for students

Washburn University's annual intramural soccer season begins next Tuesday at 7 p.m. for all leagues in the indoor athletic facility. This is a brand-new experience for all soccer players; no team has been able to play on the new indoor turf until this season.

"I've never used the indoor facility; it isn't open to the public and I'm really pumped to try out my new cleats on the turf," said Charles Dilliehunt, forward for the men's intramural team.

Dilliehunt will be kicking off his team this year, not on the basketball court, but in the center circle of the field. He will also be cheering on teams in the women's and co-ed leagues when his team is done playing. For more information, follow @WUSRWC on Twitter or download the IMleagues app.
